THE RABBIT HOLE

RESOURCES TO GO DEEPER

Let's Talk About Gender, Race, And Offenses

Identity has become a contentious issue across the globe. Public debates on race, gender, faith, and other 'identity' variables have heightened our awareness not only of our own identity but also our orientation toward others who are 'different.' What labels are acceptable? What comments are offensive? What topics are taboo? Should someone have said what they did in social media? Should I have responded? These are questions with which we wrestle, publicly and privately. Yet, for all the present attention on identity variables, I wonder whether our debates are motivated by genuine desire to understand others, out of love for a fellow human being.
